Current permanent hire process

Current reality: Permanent hire process

Non-Permanent Hire process

Contract workers

- Seven types of contractors:
 - Fixed term
 - Part-time
 - Secondary
 - Part-time student
 - Pay-by-claim
 - Winter/summer school
 - Tutor

Current reality: Non-permanent workers

Vacant position identified by line manager

Issue: HR only involved at the end of the process

Lack of planning around non-permanent staff which impacts on HR turnaround times due to things not being done write first time

e.g. authorisation form not properly completed, no documentation authorisation to ensure compliance completed by HR, line managers allowing the candidate to complete the compliance section by themselves

Details of the identified candidate sent to HR for verification and capturing

Issue:

Lack of policy governing various types of non permanent staff

Lack of strategic HR leadership for management of non- permanent staff with HR playing only a support role

Lack of strategic HR focus to manage recruitment of non-permanent staff to manage recruitment of non permanent staff in alignment with the business requirements

Recruitment of non-permanent staff not integrated into the talent management strategy

Employment commencement

Issues: No induction for non-permanent staff and only started including them in induction program in May

Staff commence employment without official contract.

Some non SA staff commence without work permits

Employment related documentation from line managers too often d get lost between HR and Finance

Contract given directly to the candidate

Issue: Delays in signing employment contracts which result in delays on payment of salaries

Key issues with the current process for Non-Permanent

- Line managers involved with a lot of HR administrative issues
- Lack of planning from business while HR is playing an administrative role
- HR involved at the end of the process as a result of a lack HR strategic role in the business
- University exposed to lot of Governance issues
- Manual driven process that create transactional burden fro both HR and hiring managers
